Announcements

Informal Affairs Popular.

The Country club is the mecca of Memphis society on Saturday evenings, the opening dinner dance last Saturday attracting over 300 guests, necessitating the enclosing of the spacious veranda to accommodate the large gathering. These informal affairs are a very popular form of diversion and the event on Saturday evening, Nov. 15, is being anticipated with much pleasure.

There will be no dinner-dance at the club this week on account of the nearness of the debutante ball.

Honor Debutante.

Judge and Mrs. Julian C. Wilson will entertain with a dinner-dance at the Country club on the evening of Nov. 19, complimentary to Miss Evelyn Ralner, who will be numbered among the season's debutantes.

Entertainments

Miss Boyle Entertains.

Miss Margaret Boyle complimented four of the season's debutantes yesterday afternoon when she entertained at luncheon for Misses Gertrude Russell, Jewett Swift, Mary Lee Busby and Anne Perkins.

Covers were laid for 32 on one large table with four smaller ones, which were attractively adorned with beautiful fall flowers. The large table, where the honor guests were seated, had an exquisite floral centerpiece of pink dahlias and roses arranged in an ivory basket, while each of the smaller tables was adorned with these same pretty blossoms, arranged in a crystal vase.

The monogram cards of the hostess marked the places of the guests. For the afternoon Miss Boyle wore a Lucile gown of gray dovelain with touches of green. Miss Russell was gowned in brown satin with drapery of georgette crepe bordered with gold thread, with a brown tulle hat trimmed with an iridescent band and a large feather. Miss Swift wore a black and white dress with a hat of black and white. Miss Busby was gowned in green embroidered satin with a gold hat, and Miss Perkins wore a black and white dress with a hat of black and white.

In Honor of Miss De Loach.

Miss Malde DeLoach, who will be one of the lovely November brides, was the honoree at a most enjoyable affair yesterday afternoon, when Miss Irene Driver complimented her with an afternoon at bridge.

Chrysanthemums in all their gorgeous fall colorings were artistically used in the ornamentation of the rooms where the tables were arranged for the game, the winners and the few friends invited to be present at the rehearsal will be entertained by Mrs. W. P. Phillips, Jr., with her supper in her home on Foster avenue.

The rooms thrown open to the guests and the picture table will be most attractively decorated with chrysanthemums and autumn leaves. The hostess will be daintily gowned in pink tulle and the honor guest will wear a charming frock of cream net, having a satin girdle with tassels. Her house guest, Miss Emma Collier, of Vicksburg, who will be her maid of honor at her marriage, was gowned in brown georgette crepe with facings of French blue, with a blue and brown hat, with which she wore a corsage bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Entertains Bridal Party.

Following the rehearsal for the DeLoach-Adams wedding on Wednesday evening, in the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. B. DeLoach, the members of the bridal party and the few friends invited to be present at the rehearsal will be entertained by Mrs. W. P. Phillips, Jr., with her supper in her home on Foster avenue.

"MITZI" SEAT SALE OPENS WITH A RUSH

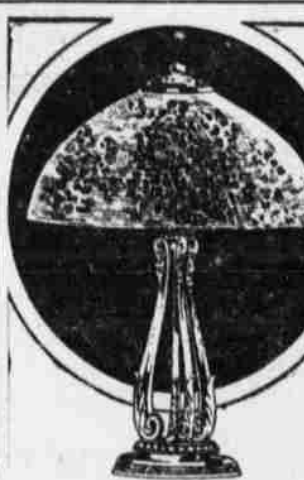

The sale of seats for the engagement of "Mitzi" in "Head Over Heels," big Henry W. Savage production to be at the Lyric theater Friday and Saturday opened with a rush Wednesday morning. Beside the long line of theatergoers waiting at the box office stacks of orders from out of town were received by Vincent Carline, treasurer of the theater.

The engagement is for Friday night, Saturday matinee and night. There are still some good seats left.

WHAT HE CAME TO.

"Ye gods," exclaimed Rantington Roarer, the eminent tragedian, "What's the matter?" asked a member of his company.

"A lodging housekeeper offers me a hall bedroom for a week on condition that I do a few imitations in the parlor one night a week to entertain her guests. Have I trod the boards for 25 years to come to this?"

CLUBDOM

WILL NAME NEW ANNEX IN HONOR OF DAUGHTER OF GENEROUS CONTRIBUTOR

The board of managers of the Elizabeth club held an interesting meeting Tuesday, Mrs. Hugh Hayley presiding, to discuss ways and means of raising the fund for the erection of a new annex to the club whereby a number of other girls may be cared for. The ideal home atmosphere which pervades that popular boarding club for girls.

It was decided to have a drive, beginning next week, for $25,000.

The actual work on the annex will not begin until sufficient funds to pay for it are in hand, though Mrs. Hayley and her co-workers will go ahead with the plans, consult contractors and attend to all the preliminary work. Many prominent business men are taking an active interest in the project and have contributed generously and the ladies are also receiving much encouragement from interested neighbors in Mississippi an exceedingly generous contribution having been given by a prominent Mississippi planter, Mr. T. G. James, of Sharkey, who is frequently "wintered" in the city.

Mr. James did even more than contributing. He secured the interest of several of his friends and through him the ladies received contributions from Dr. J. C. Brooks, of Deason, Miss.; Thomas of Macon, Miss.; Earl Bledsoe, of Hattiesburg, Ark.; and Mr. Boykin Perkins, of Memphis.

This is the kind of "friend in need" that makes the world a pleasant place in which to live.

A feature which particularly appeals to business men is the fact that the club has always, since its opening, been entirely self-supporting. The report of the official chapman and club manager, Miss Mary O'Dougherty, given at the meeting yesterday, showing that every detail, including the running expenses of the club and her own and her assistant's salary, was covered by the regular income from the membership fees and the charge made by the girls who make their home at the club. The girls are charged only a very small per cent of their salary, each girl paying according to her means, though all receive the same benefits from the club; the same neat rooms and the same wholesome food and homelike surroundings.

This is one of the very finest things that have been done along the line of welfare work in Memphis and its wonderfully helpful effects are far reaching. Girls coming to Memphis alone to secure employment or having accepted employment at a very small salary, find in the Elizabeth club one of the greatest blessings, saving them, as it does, from what would otherwise be a very sordid existence. At the club the girls find a place to live, but many of the wholesome forms of amusement, with Miss O'Dougherty and the ladies of the board as guides, counselors and friends.

It is a great regret that hundreds of girls may not enjoy the privilege of living at the club and the members of the board and the Nineteenth Century club, which is its sponsor, hope some day that there may be room for every girl in the city, who is forced to board and is not making a salary of more than $10 a week.

As soon as the new wing is completed it will be given the name of the Joy annex, which has been chosen in compliment to Mr. Joseph H. Newburger, who has been one of the most active workers and generous contributors to the Elizabeth club, the name being that of his little daughter.

Thirty new members were received at the meeting Tuesday.

Gleaners Circle.

The Gleaners' circle of the Evergreen Presbyterian church will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Dean Adams, 1678 Overton Park avenue.

As this is the first fall social, as well as talent money meeting, all members are asked to be present.

Shakespeare Class.

The regular meeting of the Shakespeare class of the Union circle will be held Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. Mark Davis. The program will be as follows:

"Measure for Measure."

Roll Call—Memorized quotations from Act II.

Interpretations of difficult passages. Scene 1—Mrs. Harry Lewis.

Scene 2—Mrs. Leon Becker.

Scenes 3 and 4—Mrs. Ben Friedman.

ACT III.

Discussion, What is your opinion of Racquel's attitude in Scene 17—Mrs. J. C. Felsenthal.

Compare Isabel's speeches on "Mercy" with Portia's—Mrs. M. M. Gattman.

Trace carefully the course of Isabel's plea—Mrs. J. D. Marks.

Point out instances of dramatic irony in this act—Miss Violet Foltz.

Show the dramatic value of scene 4. Mrs. Mark Davis.

Pie Social.

The members of the parent-teacher association of Neeshaba, Tenn., have planned a delightful affair for Friday evening at the school building, where they will entertain with a pie social followed by a program featuring well known advertisements.

All their friends in Memphis as well as their own and neighboring hamlets have been invited to attend and enjoy the delicious home-cooked pies and take a few home with them.

Old-Fashion Church Social.

The E. M. Richardson circle of the First Presbyterian church will entertain on Tuesday evening, Nov. 11, with an old-fashioned church social and supper in the ladies' parlor of the Third Presbyterian church. A splendid musical program will be given and all friends of the circle and members of the church are invited. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

Salon Circle.

All of the members of Salon circle who expect to attend the annual birthday luncheon on Monday, Nov. 15, at 12:30 o'clock at the Hotel Chicago, have been asked to notify Mrs. David Levy.

The members have been urged to join the public speaking class of the circle, which will meet with Miss Schloss at Central high school on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Here and There

Mr. Erin Farley, baritone, will be heard in a recital on Thursday evening at the high school at Ripley, Tenn., with Miss Jama Duncan, pianist and accompanist.

Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson spent the day in the city Tuesday en route from her home in Texas to attend the national U. D. C. convention in Tampa, Fla.

Miss Mary Leary arrived Tuesday evening from New York to be the guest of Mrs. Joseph H. Stewart and will share in the affairs given for members of the debutante set.

Mrs. M. W. Anderson, of Chattanooga, Tenn., is visiting in the home of her son, Mr. Milton J. Anderson, 278 South Belvedere boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. David Harsh have returned from their bridal trip and are at home in their apartment on Harbert and Rembert avenues.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Anderson have returned from a visit of several weeks in Washington, D. C.

For T. G. Scarbrough, city assessor. He has kept politics, fees and favoritism out of his office.

NAMED RAILROAD HEAD.

H. E. Byram, federal manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, has been elected president of the road and will be succeeded as federal manager by B. B. Greer, according to reports in railroad circles.

Weddings

Martin-Yerger.

The marriage of Miss Mary Irene Martin, daughter of Mr. W. S. Martin, to Mr. George Shall Yerger will take place at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at Calvary church, the Rev. W. D. Buckner officiating.

The choir will sing the wedding march from "Lohengrin" for the procession and Mendelssohn's wedding march for the recessional.

The bride will be gowned in white point d'esprit over georgette and satin. Her veil, fashioned with a Juliet ruff of real lace and caught with a wreath of orange blossoms, will fall to the hem of her court train. She will carry a shower bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Joel Harris, the matron of honor, will wear yellow satin with draperies of cream lace and lavender taffeta. Her flowers will be yellow and lavender chrysanthemums.

Miss Queen Elise Martin, sister of the bride, will be the maid of honor and will wear a lavender taffeta gown and carry yellow chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids, Miss Virginia Yerger, Miss Margaret Yerger and Miss Rosamond Werner, will be gowned in yellow and lavender taffeta and will carry yellow and lavender chrysanthemums.

Miss Louise Campbell, the little flower girl and ring bearer, will wear a frock of yellow taffeta and will carry a basket of pink rose petals, hidden among which will be the ring.

Mr. Yerger will have Mr. Thomas Wilkinson as his best man and the groomsmen will be Messrs. Gwynne Yerger, Jr., Fred Smithwick, Eugene Ballou and John Clough.

The ushers will be Messrs. Clinton McKay and Lemuel Bingham.

An informal reception will be held at the home of the bride for the bridal party and immediate relatives, after which the young couple will leave for St. Louis, Mo. On their return they will be at home at 1576 Carr avenue.

Following the meeting a musical program will be rendered and refreshments will be served to the patients in the home.

"Wandering Wife" Says Husband Ate Too Much For Her

Jeff Wade, engineer on the stand in Fourth circuit court Tuesday as a witness in his divorce suit against his wife, Irene Wade, recounted all the allegations in his bill, charging that his wife was not a good spouse in these days of the H. C. J. because she has a mania for traveling and an aversion for housekeeping and also that she was so indifferent as to attend the movies, boat excursion and other places alone at night without an escort.

In her answer and cross bill Mrs. Wade claims that the reason Wade filed his bill for divorce was that he found out that she, Mrs. Wade, was going to file a suit and wanted to get ahead of her. She says he charged everything against her but failed to state that he had blinded her eye and broken one of her fingers. In answer to his charge that she was extravagant during the days of the high cost of living, he also forgot to state, she says, that he was such a big eater it took all he could make to feed himself and there is where the real trouble arose.

Goldberger, Leve & Dunham are attorneys for Wade while H. T. Holman is appearing for Mrs. Wade.
